ES: Prince Russell Again. There was some rather startling and s, Oil and ging testimony in the investigation of the Yellowstone Park scandal today, when Mr. Watres, the former manager of the Yellowstone Park, testified that the "my friend" referred to in his letter hishes. for whom $5,000 worth of stock had been set aside, was Russell Harrison, the son of the president. This stock, he said, he had placed in the hands of Dick Kerens, of star route fame, because he knew Kerens was a friend of Russell Harrison. He claims that young Harrison knew thing about the stock which he was parrious to bestow upon him, but as med had been kind enough to go to one or two occasions, and as he expect-to use him still further, he wanted to have a block of stock. THEY CHEER FOR BLAINE.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 5.—The republican state convention met here today, with an enthusiastic crowd both on the floor and galleries. Ogden W. Fethers, of Janesville, temporary chairman, aroused tre-mendous applause at the mention of Presi-ville, temporary chairman, aroused tremendous applause at the mention of President Harrison's name, but that was nothing to what followed when he impressively began to apostrophise "That foremost man in the world to whom goes out now, as always, the great heart of the republican party—James G. Blaine."

"That is a name to conjure with," said the speaker, and the handclapping of approval broke out afresh.

"I have regarded him," he continued, "the warming faith of the Germans of middle ages toward their great hero, Frederick Barbarossa, when told he was dead. Wait but a little while, said they, 'and surely he will come again to lead us to victory." (Tremendous applause.)

"So say we—not later than 1896. No power short of the grave shall rob the American people of the right to nominate and elect James G. Blaine president of the United States."

The din of approbation seemed to carry the delegates into the air, so many had jumped on the chairs and were waiving hads and hankershiefs. The following were chosen delegates at large to the national republican convention: Henry C. Payne, of Milwaukee; ex-United States Senator Spooner, General Lucian Fairchild and ex-Congressman Isaac Stephenson.

The Virginia republican convention was held at Roanoke yesterday and General William Mahone called it to order. He paid a high tribute to Henry Watterson, of Kentucky. Hon. F. C. Foster was temporary chairman.

The following delegates were elected: Delegates at large, General William Mahone, S. Brown Allen, A. W. Harris, Henry Bowen; alternates, Colonel J. S. Browning, R. A. Paul, M. C. Cardoza, J. W. Simmons; electors at large, A. I. Mocklar, Robert J. Walker. The platform endorses Harrison's administration, praises Blaine, calls for immediate action on the free silver question and declares it to be the duty of the republicans of the state to diligently support whosever may be the nominee of the Minneapoliz convention. The minority report was presented instructing delegates for Harrison. This was bitterly opposed by the Mahone men and a lively debate ensued. The prospects are that the convention will be in session all night.

Lake-House Proceedings. Washington, May 5.-After the reference Washington, May 5.—After the reference of a few senate bills, the house went into committee of the whole (Mr. Hatch, of Missouri, in the chair) on the river and harbor appropriation bill. Further general debate was limited to two hours, and Mr. Holman, of Indiana, took the floor in opposition to the measure. He attacked the debate was limited to two hours, and Mr. Holman, of Indiana, took the floor in opposition to the measure. He attacked the bill as being an extravagant one. It not only appropriated more than $21,000,000, but it authorized contracts to be made which would make the government liable for $26,000,000 more. In connection with the bill, he sent to the clerk's desk and had read a letter from W. E. Leonard, of Port Huron, Mich., to Representative Whiting, thanking him for his opposition to the proposal to make a twenty-one-foot canal across lake St. Claire, a distance of thirty miles. This channel would have to be made with a pier of wood or stone on both sides. It would cost at least $72,000,000. and, if the piers were of stone, it would cost $300,000,000.

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, had too short a time accorded to him to attack the bill in detail, but he said that, if the democratic house wished to pass the bill, it should act frankly with the people, and tell them that the measure involved an appropriation of $47,000,000, and not of $21,000,000. RUBBING IT IN.

Here Comes Muscogee, Loudly Claimed for Cleveland, and

lumbus Yesterday. TOM GRIMES AND LOUIS GARRARD

Head the Delegation-Put Muscogee's Votes in the Hill Column-Other Political News.

Columbus, Ga., May 5 .- (Special.) - Today's primary election in Muscogee coun-ty resulted in an overwhelming victory for the Hill men. The returns from all the county precincts are not in; but it is absolutely certain that three Hill delegates have been elected, and it is highly probable that all four of Museogee's votes in the state convention will be cast by stanch Hill men.

Such a victory in this county is particularly significant. Muscogee has been claimed with all confidence as absolutely solid for Cleveland. The Cleveland men, not only here but all through Georgia, have been harping upon the great strength which the ex-president was supposed to have here. They went so far at one time as to say that there was not a single Hill man in the county, and they talked in that strain so strongly that they began to believe it.

But their eyes have been opened. They have been forced to acknowledge that Muscogee county is like the rest of Georgia-that the democrats here believe the national convention should name a candidate who can win and that David B. Hill is that man.

A Lively Contest. The contest has been a lively one all

The Hill ticket contained the names of Tom Grimes, Louis Garrard, L. J. Hunt and G. H. Neal. The Cleveland delegates were Francis

Peabody, R. O. Howard, Dan Dozier and From early in the morning Cleveland men thought that the Cleveland ticket would be elected beyond the peradventure of a doubt. The Hill men did their work quietly and effectively, and the result when the ballots were counted was a complete surprise to the Clevelandites. The vote was exceedingly close. Tom Grimes, however, ran ahead of both tickets and received 625; Messrs, Garrard and Oattis came next with 595 votes each: and Messrs. Howard and Hunt also tied with 591 votes apiece; Mr. Dozier got 584, and Mr. Neal 581. That is the result in the city. The Cleve-and men acknowledge that the Hill ticket will have a majority in the county outside of the city. Their last hope is that this majority may not be large enough to put Mr. Neal in over Mr. Oattis, though city seeking recruits and rushing their votes into the ballotbox. The Cleveland men worked equally hard and all day long they wore a confident look. When the result was announced they were terribly astonished. A week ago there is little doubt that the Cleveland ticket would have won The sentiment has, however, been changing rapidly and the result would probably have been still more decisive if the primary had been delayed for another

The only difficulty which took place during the day occurred just as the polls were closing. Mr. Toll Crawford, one of the hardest workers for the Hill ticket, arrived with five voters just as 6 o'clock struck. The windows of the polling place were shut in his face and he was no allowed to get in the ballots. A heated argument took place between Mr. Crawford and the managers; but the votes were not received.

The Hill men are naturally jubilant tonight and are confident that all four Hill delegates have been elected. They feel that nowhere in Georgia has there been a more signal victory for the man of their choice. It is certainly one of which they have a right to feel proud.

THE DEMOCRACY OF ROME.

A Stirring Meeting There Yesterday with Eloquent Speeches.

Rome, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—The democracy had a great meeting in Rome today. Speeches were made by Hon. T. Warren Aiken, Hon. W. Y. Atkinson, Captain Felix Corput and Judge Maddox and a platform of resolutions were adopted. of resolutions were adopted. great was the enthusiasm manifested.

At 10 o'clock this morning a large audience was present at Nevin's opera house. The assemblage was made up of a number of prominent farmers and representative men of the city and a few colored men occavied the galleries.

Colonel D. B. Hamilton was chosen chairman. The programme arranged was changed, the local orators giving way to the visitors. Hon. T. Warren Aiken was the first speaker. He spoke briefly, but his attack upon the third party was vigorous. He praised Mr. Everett as an honest, faithful congressman, he pictured the horrors of negro supremacy and with a brief resume of the relief demanded closed his speech amid much applause.

Chairman W. Y. Atkinson was the next speaker. Mr. Atkinson gave the history of the democratic party, of what it had done and what it proposed to do. He attacked the St. Louis platform, showing how Georgia's alliancemen were distractised there and laid bare its rottenness. He appealed to the third party men present to reason with him and not to leave the old party for through it alone could they find redress.

After dinner Captain Felix Corput addressed the meeting. He said he had always voted a democratic ticket and he exexpected to keep on doing so. He appealed to his alliance brethren not to leave the democratic fold. His exposition of free silver and the tariff was clear. He said he was opposed to the nomination of Grover Cleveland but he would support the democratic nominee. Captain Corput's speech was well received.

Judge John W. Maddox then took the stand and made a splendid effort. It was clearly noticeable that he made a great impression among the third party men present and in the course of his remarks one of them holloed, "You are right, judge." He annealed by name to some of them present to come back and fight with the democrats. He said the democracy of Georgia should formulate a platform embodying all the reliefs needed and carry it to Chicago, and that the south could demand concessions in the policy of the party.

After Judge Maddox concluded cries were made for "Wright," "Wright," but Mr. Wright was not in the hall at the time.

The meeting then adjourned. It was a great day for democracy

BARBECUE AT HOLTON-

Holton, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—The Holton Farmers' Club, composed of a large number of farmers from Bibb, Monroe and Jones counties, held their annual meeting yesterday at their pienic grounds by the banks of the Ocmulgee river on Captain, R. E. Parks's beautiful farm, "Holton." A farmers' institute was organized there of which Colonel Bowman was elected annual president. Interesting and instructive addresses on agricultural subjects were made by Dr. White and Professor Hunnicutt, of the State university at Athens, and by Colonel Redding, director of the state experiment station near Grif-fessor Hunnicutt, of the State university at Athens, and by Colonel Redding, director of the state experiment station near Griffin. The addresses were timely and were well received and heartily applauded.

After the addresses came the regular annual dinner of barbeched pig and other choice viands, including ice cold buttermilk from Captain Parks's dairy near by, the beautiful repast winding up with strawberries and cream.

After the dinner the audience called for a political speech from Mr. M. V. Moore, agricultural editor of The Constitution, who was present by special invitation of the club. He discussed the political situation for a few minutes, humorously comparing the third party to the grass that attempts to grow in the cotton field. He advised the farmers of Georgia not to kill the grass entirely, but to keep it in cultivation in a field to itself, where it could not injure the crop that was to be the hope and salvation of the farmer. His special injunction to the farmers of Georgia was to stick to the democratic party that had so long stood up between the southern people and their enemies in the republican party.

After the political addresses which met with great applause the large audience was kept in an uproar of laughter and delight for half an hour by "Betsy Hamilton," who had been specially invited to attend and recite one of her minitable character sketches. The piece was "Babe, or Hiring Household Help"—something very appropriate to the occasion of a farmers' meeting. There was an immense gathering of the county people on the occasion. The weather was fine, and the day passed most delightfully to everybody present.

A BROAD DEMOCRACY.

Stewart County Believes in Mutual Con cessions and Harmony.

Lumpkin, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—At a mass meeting held here Tuesday for the purpose of discussing the political situation and to at tempt to harmonize the different factions in the county, J. W. Slaughter was elected chairman and J. J. Howell, of The Independent this majority may not be large enough to put Mr. Neal in over Mr. Oattis, though there is every reason to believe that Mr. Neal will have a good majority and that the delegation will be solid for Hill.

Hill Sentiment Stronger Every Day.

The election was marked in town by exceeding good fellowship, althought it was the most exciting contest that has ever been held.

The Hill men acknowledged that they had an uphill fight before them, and they kept on working with the greatest energy. From the time the polls opened until their close they were driving about the city seeking recruits and rushing their.

Resolved. We, the democratic party of Stewart county, will use our influence and votes to secure legislation which will correct the evils complained of by the National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union in covention at Ocala, Fla., and the evils complained of by the democratic party, especially those that relate to the present financial and taxation policy of this government.

Resolved, That we instruct our delegates to the May convention in Atlanta to use their influence to secure the etabodiment of these views in the state platform of the democratic party and to send to Chicago such delegates as will favor incorporating them in the national platform.

The strait-jacket democrats made a strong fight for their resolutions, and the third partyites fought for the St. Louis platform, but the alliancemen out-voted them and carried their resolution.

This meeting was called because the election of delegates will be by primary next Saturday, and it was to give those delegates instructions. The general opinion seems to be that delegates favorable to Cleveland, will be selected.

THEY WANT A WINNER-

Jasper's Delegates Are Uninstructed, but

Hill Leads.

Monticello, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—A large and enthusiastic mass meeting of democrats met here Monday for the purpose of electing delegates to the state convention. For a time it seemed as if there would be a split between the ultra-zealous democrats and those advocating the Ocala platform. But not even the most determined supporters of the Ocala demand, thought of urging the formation of a third party. In fact, the third partyites are not: "in it" in Jasper county. Finally wiser counsef prevailed and a regular love feast was held.

Resolutions pledging unwavering fealty to the democratic party and endorsing its doctrines and principles unequivocally, were adopted without a dissenting vote. The Ocala platform with the subtreasury plank and the government ownership of railroads plank stricken out was endorsed. These two planks beling out, the rest of the platform of the Ocala convention was adopted unanimously. The administration of Governor Northen was endorsed with but one negative vote.

Judge Thomas G. Ganson was enthusiastically commended for his conduct in the national congress. He can get Jasper's vote for another term, if he wants it, the denunciatory resolutions of Clarke county to the contrary notwithstanding.

The following delegates were elected to the state convention, with the privilege of appointing their own alternates: John H. Kft. ley, W. A. Reed, O. H. Arnold, Jr., E. B. Smith and E. L. Campbell. The delegates were not instructed, the meeting adopting a resolution to that effect, but at the same time telling the delegates to vote for the man who can win.

Two of the delegates elected are for Hill, one for Cieveland, one for Palmer, and one for the available man, whoever he may be.

Old Man Shuman Butted Out His Brains in Bryan County.

HE WAS CONVICTED OF A MURDER Of Which He Had Tried to Convict. His Three Sons.

Tried Another Route-A Sensational

Story.

Savannah, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)— Bryan county has been treated to another young J. B. Butler, on March 19th by the

Their father, Elijah Shuman, was last night at midnight convicted of murder in the first degree in the court at Clyde, that county. He was at once taken in custody by the sheriff and placed in jail, and soon after his incarceration he took a dose of poison and began butting his head against the iron bars. So violent was he that the other prisoners state that the entire prison, a small wooden building, was screamed and groaned, terrifying the other prisoners who thought he had suddenly became insane. Toward morning he became gradually less demonstrative and at last minous silence prevailed. When his cell was opened, Shuman was found lying out-stretched on the floor dead, his face showing the terrible agony through which he had gone. His head was badly battered, and ts work, these self-inflicted injuries would probably have killed bim.

Shuman's three sons.-J. B., John and Cyrus—were charged with the murder of Butler, who was found dead on the country road with his head and body filled with big shot. For some time they denied any knowledge of the crime, but the other day Cyrus confessed to having fired at Butler and made a statement placing the blam on his father, who, he said, had made him and his brothers lie in wait for Butler under threats of blowing out their brains if they failed to blow out Butler's. Knowing their father's character they realized that ne meant what he said, and it was either Butler's death or theirs.

Butler's death or theirs.

This statement was substantiated by witnesses for the state. W. F. Futch stated that he was at Shuman's house when John came up and told of Butler having fired the woods. His father ordered him to go get his pistol. John did so. Old man Shuman then examined it, oiled and loaded it and told him to go kill Butler at once or he would kill him. John went off soon after Futch left for home and was accompanied. ter Futch left for home and was accomp nied part of the way by old man Shuman They then met Judge and Cyrus, Shuman's other sons. They told their father that they had just quarreled with young Butler. Their father upbraided them for not shoot they carried and reload them with larger shot. Then he threatened them again with death if they disobeyed him and ordered point in the road and fill him up with shot as he passed by. They did as he directed and Futch went killed.

The finding of the body and the subse quent arrest of the three Shuman boys has all been told in The Constitution. The cell created a great sensation. The Shuman boys wept bitterly over it, even though their father in the trial had made desperate efforts to hang them all and save himself. Colonel P. W. Williams assisted Solicitor General Fraser in the prosecution. R. F. Smith defended old man Shuman and George Cann, of Savannah, volunteered and ably defended the boys. The Shuman boys were all acquitted. John was not at the scene of the crime and Cyrus was the only one who fired at as he committed the crime under fear of

The Democrats of Chattooga Have a Good

Majority. Summerville, Ga., May 5 .- (Special.)-Mr. Walker, of McDuffic, as the third party magnet, it is thought brought out the full faith in Chattooga yesterday.

A goodly number of the tried and true were on hand, and all were regaled with excellent, sensible and convincing speeches by Maddox, the people's favorite, of the seventh, and Atkinson, of Coweta, who seventh, and Atkinson, of Coweta, who were here holding up the banner of the rock-ribbed democracy.

Nofwithstanding the fact that Walker rammed third partyism down the throats of his hearers for three hours and a half, they still live, but as yet there is no third party in Chattooga, all efforts tending to an organization having failed to materialize, and in the event of future organization here it will be a very lonesome affair. The "something better" wanted by the people is the brave, upright, self-made, invincible John W. Maddox, for congress, and Chattooga will be found at the polls doing her duty for this brave son who will always be found at the front fighting for honest government and true democracy.

Mr. Walker, the third party mouth piece, in his discomfiture at not being able to organize here, left the Price house forgetting to pay his board bill.

This meeting was clearly understood to be in the interest of the third party, and every available effort was made to bring out their full strength and it was not known that either Maddox or Atkinson would be present until Thesday, yet the audience was at least three to one in favor of democracy.

A PROHI DAILY

Augusta, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—Augusta will have another newspaper. It will be a straightout prohibition paper and will be published daily, commencing with the pro-hibition campaign. It will only be issued during the campaign and will not have telegraphic news, but will be devoted entirely to prohibition and local matters. The prohibitionists are negotiating with Mr. John M. Weigle to issue the paper for them. He has the printing material of the old Weekly Progress, which he will use. Mr. Weigle says the prohibitionists have decided to start the paper because they know all three daily papers are opposed to prohibition and the party wants an organ of their own to do their fighting.

It is supposed Rev. W. W. Wadsworth will be editor of the new paper. It is ex-pected Ordinary Walton will issue a call for an election to be held in July. The antis are not asleep by a "jug-ful." They are quietly at work muster-ng forces preparatory for battle. Rev. W. W. Wadsworth, pastor of S John's church, appeared before the grand jury this morning. He was summoned by the sheriff to appear before the jury to tell all he could from his personal knowledge about gambling being allowed in Augusta, which he has preached so much about recently from the pulpit. He was detained by the jury and it is presumed was closely questioned on all matters pertaining to the violation of the law which he complains is be ing countenanced by the authorities and about which he seems to be so well posted. It is not known what transpired between the preacher and the jury, but after Dr. Wadsworth retired a large number of young men were subpensed to appear before the jury tomorrow. It is presumed that the young men who have been summoned are the ones Mr. Wadsworth heard of gambling, or who knew all about it and were his in-or who knew all about it and were his informants.

This makes the third or fourth time the grand jury during the present session has made separate investigations about gambling and the jury seems certainly to be making every effort to ascertain if there is any gambling going on in Augusta.

Particular interest will be taken in the presentments of the jury which will probably be made this week. They will doubtless make a lengthy and clear report on the subject of gambling and the result of Mr. Wadsworth's appearance before the jury will be known. It is expected several indictments for gambling will be returned against some few of the sports. few of the sports.

The Time for Receiving Deposits of Richmond Terminal Securities.

New York, May 5.—The time for receiving deposits of Richmond Terminal and underlying securities, expires tomorrow, and a meeting of the reorganization committee will then be held to consider what steps to take. The Post says one of the committee said today that the receipts of underlying securities had been decidedly unsatisfactory and the plan would have to be changed. H. C. Fannestock, representing the First National bank party on the committee, said that no one could tell what would occur until a meeting was held. That would be at 3:30 o'clock p. m., tomorrow. Rumors were current that Fred P. Olcott, chairman of the committee, had decided to resign. Members of the committee who were spoken to about the rumors, said they had heard nothing in regard to such an intention on the part of Mr. Olcott.

Railroad Contractors Used Their Laborers Worse Than Convicts—A Terrible Tale of Suffering.

Springfield, O., May 5.—(Special)—The negroes who left their homes in Georgia and Tennessee to work on railroad construction in New York recently, tell terrible stories of their treatment. One who said his name was Wash Evans told the following at the police station left Nashville, Tenn., last January to work on a railroad in New York. I worked until April 22d, but never got a cent of pay. Many of our people had their feet frozen off and if they were not able to do a day's work, the bosses would beat them with clubs and some of them they killed. Whenever they killed a nigger they buried him on the dumps and no one dared to ask any questions. My toes got frozen but never so bad but what I could do a day's work. Consequently, I never got whipped. They furnished us food, but it was hardly fit to eat and that is all we ever got. They kept us in camps of about fifteen each with a guard over us just as they do convicts in Tennessee. If a nan wanted to leave, he had to sneak away at night and get out of the country before he could be found. If they found a man who tried to escape they would beat him nearly to death. No one who has not witnessed the scenes of horror can form any idea of it. The stories of Siberian outrages are relegated to the background when compared with the outrages committed there. They would not allow us to visit each other's camps for fear we might get a crowd together and rebel. Several of our people not able to get away. I left at night and am now on my way to Nashville. I have seen enough of the north and have no desire to ever come back. The convicts in the mines of Tennessee fare far better than we did in New York." Only a few days ago two colored men who had been working to this same fall road stopped here on their way to their southern homes. Their feet were frozen and they were hardly able to walk. Their story corroborates that told by Evans and there is no doubt about the truth of the Bichmond Terminal's Directors Are Tired of the Reorganization Plan, and Want to Deal Again.

New York, May 5—(Special.)—What will almost certainly be the last meeting of the Olcott committee as at present consti-tuted, for the reorganization of the Richmond Terminal Company, will be held to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. At that time, it is understood, sharp issues will be drawn which will compel either a change in the committee, a radical change in the re-organization plan, or both. It was current reported today that Mr. F. P. Olcott's resignation as chairman of the committee will be received. Mr. Olcott's bad health has kept him from his work ever since the was published, and as there is no certainty as to when he will be able resume his duties, it is thought that he will retire the committee. The report could not be confirmed. Other changes in the committee are also looked for, though it is impossible at present to say what these changes will be. One thing, however, is sured, and that is the famous Olcott plan is dead and that its early withdrawal is inevitable. Since the last publication of the amount of underlying securities depositthree weeks ago, only about three hundred thousand dollars it is said, have en added to the total. Of course about half are income bonds paying no interest. Several directors of the company seen today, admitted that some decisive action uld be taken after the meeting of the Olcott committee tomorrow afternoon. One of them said:

Olcott committee tomorrow afternoon. One of them said:

"The directors of the East Tennessee and Richmond and Danville roads are fully able to take care of their properties if the Olcott committee will give up its hopeless fight and return the securities to their owners. As it is, the committee has advertised our properties as backrupt and in every way injured our credit.

"If the committee continues postponing and shilly-shallying as at present, I am in favor of instant and, if necessary, legal measures, to get rid of it."

A member of the Olcott committee, seen today, said: "It is true that the deposit of underlying bonds has been so small as to render the plan a failure. The failure of the plan, as I take it, is due to the fundamental error of calling upon the holders of the superior bonds to come into the plan, for the benefit of the unsecured holders. There is no reason why they should come in and they have not. I can't say what will be done at tomorrow's meeting. I suppose that the committee will simply announce the result of the attempt at reorganization, and the state of things will then be apparent to every one. I think there will be no further postponement under present conditions. The plan is a failure and another one must be prepared or the matter turned over to the directors of the companies."

It is generally understood that after to-

It is generally understood that after tomorrow's meeting of the committee, the directors of the various companies comprising the Richmond Terminal system will be called together. A number of the leading bankers of the street, among whom are understood to be Drexel, Morgan & Co. and Speyer & Co. have expressed a willing. Speyer & Co., have expressed a willingness to undertake a reorganization of the Terminal system. Associated with them will be several of the present directors of the system so that a practical reorganization may be effected. "We are done with amateur financiers, I trust," said a director of the Termina reday.

It is said to be the handsomest engine in the south. It is richly mounted with brass and glitters in the sun. This engine is Mr. Thomas's private property. He is a mechanical genius and can make a locomotive as well as run one. His father is the president and general manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis and the Western and Atlantic.

The story is told that on one occasion President Thomas was going from Nashville down to Chattanooga. His son hitched the little No. 1 to the president's private car. John was the engineer, and he went down on a special schedule.

Colonel Thomas drew a breath of relief when he got out on the platform at Nashville, and striding up to his son, he said:

Mr. Rountree brings new charges and urges additional reasons why the Terminal's reorganization deal should not be allowed to embrace the East Tennessee and why a receiver should be appointed. Creed F. Bates and Ingersoll & Peyton are the other attorneys for the complainants. The case will be called today before Chancellor Gibson and the complainants will press for a hearing. It has been postponed twice.

The Order of Railway Conductors gave its sixth annual picuic yesterday at Maddox Park, on the Atlanta and Florida railroad. Maddox Pork is a famous picuic resort nineteen miles from Atlanta.

The first load of excursionists left the city yesterday morning at 8:20 o'clock. The train was composed of eleven passenger coaches and one express car. The coaches were filled. The trip to the picuic grounds was made without an accident or incident worthy of note, in fifty-five minutes, and after the happy crowd reached its destination some went eagerly to work constructing swings, rustic seats and game stands, while others employed themselves in hunting wild flowers and promenading through the shady forest.

The second excursion special which left the city at 11 o'clock carried down a fairly good crowd to join the festive picnickers, who had preceded them.

THE GREAT AUCTION SALE OF LOTS

Which Is to Take Place at Bosque Bonits on Tuesday, May 10th-A Rare Investment.

Nobody has ever lost money by buying real estate in Atlanta.

This is a fact that has passed into history. Even securities which have been designated by the courts as safe investnents for trust funds have depreciated in value while Atlanta real estate has remained at par or appreciated in value.

This fact speaks volumes to those who have money to invest. Notwithstanding the depression which has been brought about in the south by the low price of cotton, real estate here has not depreciated one particle in value but, on the contrary, is in steady demand and is generally consid ered the basis of reliable and safe invest-

Property within the environments of the city having become extremely dear and scarce, suburban property lying in desira ble sections is now not only much sought after by local capitalists, but investment seekers throughout the state. A score of men residing in the small towns of Georgia could be enumerated who are invest ing all of their surplus money in real estate in and around Atlanta.

A well-known business man living at So cial Circle bought a piece of Atlanta suburban property two years ago and after holding it two months sold it at a profit of $9,000. There are several gen tlemen at Washington, Ga., who bought a of land near the city a few years ago which they could sell now for ten times as much as they paid for it.

The way for a man of small means to do is to locate a section in which the wealthy men of Atlanta are building homes, and then buy as many lots as he can raise the money to pay for. Such an investment would not only be safe but productive of remarkable profits.

Now here is West End for instance. This is the loveliest suburb around Atlanta. It is the ambition of every rich man in Atlanta to own a home there. To be a resident of West End is a badge of aristocracy and an evidence of wealth. This suburb is not only threaded with matchless street car facilities, but it is an independent corporation enjoying immunity from heavy city taxation, while at the same time sharing all the privileges, pleasures and conveniences that Atlanta can afford. There being such a great demand for West End property Messrs. Samuel W. Goode & Co. have plotted out a tract of eleven acres which lies at the junction of Gordon street and the Sandtown road and Now here is West End for instance. This Goode & Co. have plotted out a tract of eleven acres which lies at the junction of Gordon street and the Sandtown road and put it on the market for sale. The lots are handsomely platted and are broad and deep, with a wealth of shade trees. This property is called "Bosque Bonita," and it is a rare and beautiful place for homes. This is the first subdivision of the property and an auction sale of lots has been arranged to take place on Tuesday morning, the 10th of May. The event will be made notable by a grand barbecue under the drooping foliage of the majestic oaks at Besque Bonita. Further emphasis will be given to the occasion by the presence of a splendid brass band. The crowds who attend the lot sale will be carried to Bosque Bonita free of charge over the Consolidated electric street car lines and otherwise entertained in a most royal manner. No fancy prices will be demanded for the lots and a cash payment of only one third of the purchase price will be required. These lots are considered by capitalists as a giltedge investment and those who have surplus cash on hand should attend the sale on May 10th.

No one in Atlanta is better posted on the water question past and present than Hon. George Hillyer, ex-mayor.

Mr. Hillyer opposes the abolition of the meters and does not demand a great flow of the water.

meters and does not demand a great flow of free water.

In reply to a question he said yesterday:
"At the time the meter system was adopted several years/ago there were within a fraction of one thousand taps. The waste by consumers was so great that the total daily pumpage was six million gallons. And running both engines to the utmost capacity and, indeed, by straining them up to the danger line there was not enough pressure to throw water into the second story of many houses. All efforts, by house to house it spection, remonstrance and otherwise, to induce consumers to quit wasting the water utterly failed and the waterworks ways about to fail and the city to fail or suffer badly with them.

"We per on the meters. It required nerve and a sense of duty to do it. But our people responded, took the money out of their pockets, every consumer for himself, and paid for his meter. Immediately the pumpage fell to 1,500,000 gallons and everybody had plenty of water. You see the meters merely stopped the useless waste of water. The pressure in the mains rose so that six or eight streams could be thrown over the Kimball or the tallest building, and the pressure has kept up ever since. So you see we have the fixed data to go by.

"Without meters, 1,000 taps, daily 6,000,000 gallons.

"With meters, 1,000 taps, daily 1,500,- 000 gallons. "With meters, 1,000 taps, daily 1,500,-000 gallons.

"We now have 4,000 taps and under the meter system the pumpage is only about 3,500,000 gallons daily. But if we had no meters the pumpage and wastage with 4,000 taps would be 25,000,000 gallons daily. The new works are only planned 4.000 taps would be 25,000,000 gallons daily. The new works are only planned for 10,000,000. So there would be a difference of 14,000,000 gallons daily or something like that. And so the city would really be worse off now after spending three quarters of a million dollars for new works than she was with the old.

really be worse off now after spending three quarters of a million dollars for new works than she was with the old.

"Again I have here before me Haswell's table by which I see that the sectional area of a thirty-inch supply main such as we lay from the new reservoir is 708.8 square inches. The sectional area of 4,000 three-quarter-inch taps (a fair average) is 3,000 inches, or over four times as much or greater than the rise of the supply main. We never could pump water through a one-inch pipe fast enough to get up any pressure in the latter.

"But somebody says the people would not waste the water. The reply is experience shows that the people do waste the water and nothing has ever stopped the waste but meters. Nearly all other cities have followed Atlanta's example and put on meters. It would be the height of folly to take off the meters.

"Chief Joiner says if the meters were taken off he would have to call for five or six new engines and five companies, and could not then fight as well as he now does without using his engines, from the street mains under the good pressure he always has, produced by the meter system.

"No! you had better let well enough alone. The water board and fire department understand these things.

"We have done wonderfully well considering our chances up to now, and when we get the new works done and in operation, we will have the best and most satisfactory system of water supply. That is if you let those manage it who understand the subject.

"We have long contemplated doing what you let those manage it who understand the subject.

"We have long contemplated doing what is reasonable as to increasing the meter limit and a graduated or reduced rate, and also repairing—not owning—but repairing the meters. The only difficulty is the city council will not give us money. Every street in the city ought to have a six-inch main laid down ahead of the belgian block work. And every sewer ought to have a main by the side of it. There are five or six miles of streets urgently calling for water mains, where taxpayers live whose rights and wishes ought to be respected, and yet the city council only doles out to us a beggarly little $10,000 for all this work. They ought to have given us $50,000. When we call for it they answer that they have not little $10,000 for all this work. They ought to have given us $50,000. When we call for it they answer that they have not got it. Of course they haven't, and why? Because they spend it for something else. Hundreds of thousands of dollars—it looks as if just anything and just as much as anybody will ask for paving old streets, opening and grading new streets, bridges, new offices, increase of salaries—anything, everything. But for new water mains and other so much needed work and repairs in our water system, next to nothing! It is greatly to be hoped that the council will yet this year recognize the fact that water is more importnat than paving and bridges, and such things, and let these wait if need be instead of making the people who have been taxed to build sewers wait and do without any of the benefit, whilst things so much less needed get attention and the money—virtually all of it used for them first. The truth is I often think that if the public understood this matter properly they would not stand it.

A MEETING CALLED FOR MONDAY NIGHT.

Judge Howard Van Epps Makes the For mal Call—The Old College Will Be Toasted Most Rapturously.

Now, then, let the university men of At-

Now, then, let the university men of Atlanta get together.

The meeting for the purpose of reorganizing the university club has been duly and formally called.

It will be the grandest gathering of university men Atlanta ever saw, and good fellowship and love for the old mother college will reign and rule the hour.

The meeting will take place in the Young Men's Christian Association hall next Monday night, and every man, young or old, who has ever been a student at the University of Georgia, no matter whether he graduated or not, is earnestly requested to be present.

be present.
"The University of Georgia" will be the toast that night, and the 200 college men of the Gate City will be in right high glee, to be sure.
For several days the boys have been talking up the interest in the minor university club, until now there is not a man of them but will lay aside every interest Monday night and go out to attend the meeting for reorganizing and injecting new life into the club.

President Van Epps's Call.

Yesterday Judge Howard Van Epps, president of the Atlanta University Club, issued the following call for the meeting of university men in this city:

The alumni of the University of Georgia are requested to meet in the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association next Mondry evening, May 9th, at 8 o'clock. This call embraces all persons who were at any time matriculates of the university, whether they graduated or not. The object of the meeting is to re-elect officers and renew and perfect our local club crganization, for amusement, instruction, reviving of coarradeship, and help to the alma mater. All former students of the university who love the old mater are urged to attend this meeting. This May 4, 1892. HOWARD VAN EPPS. President Atlanta Alumni Sc REMSEN CRAWFORD, Secretary.

Where They Will Meet.

Where They Will Meet.

Owing to the fact that Rev. Thomas Dickson, Jr., the noted lecturer, has an engagement in the entertainment hall of the Young Men's Christian Association Monday night, the meeting of the university men will be held in the lecture hall, on the second floor of the building.

It is expected that not only the young men shall be at the meeting, but that every older graduate or former matriculate shall likewise be in attendance.

Among the prominent older university men in Atlanta are Hon. N. J. Hammond, Captain Harry Jackson, Joseph E. Brown, Julius L. Brown, Charles Hill, Benjamin H. Hill, and dozens of others of Atlanta's leading citizens.

There will be several speeches at the meeting Monday night, and some very important business to transact in the way of outlining plans for operation in the future.

Every university man will be there, of course.

ment in the entertainment hall of the Young Men's Christian Association Monday night, the meeting of the university men will be held in the lecture hall, on the second floor of the building.

This hall is large, and very convenient for the meeting. It is fully capable of holding the crowds of college men, and chairs will be there for every one.

The meeting will be called to order by President Van Epps at So'clock sharp, and every former student of the University of Georgia should be there promptly at that hour.

The Old Men, Too.

It is expected that not only the young men shall be at the meeting, but that every older graduate or former matriculate shall likewise be in attendance.

Among the prominent older university men in Atlanta are Hon. N. J. Hammond, Captain Harry Jackson, Joseph E. Brown, Julius L. Brown, Charles Hill, Benjamin H. Hill, and dozens of others of Atlanta's leading citizens.

There will be several speeches at the meeting Monday night, and some very important business to transact in the way of cavilining plans for operation in the future.

ATLANTA, GA., May 6, 1892.

The Southern Baptists.

Perhaps Atlanta has never had within her gates a more notable assemblage than the convention of southern Baptists which opens its deliberations here today.

The ablest representatives of this great denomination from the Potomac to the Rio Grande, will be in the convention. They represent about 17,000 tabernacles with a membership of 1,300,000. Many of them are learned divines distinguished educators, and men of renown who have filled high places in the nation. All of them are worthy representatives of a powerful denomination whose history is so interwoven with the struggles for religious liberty that the two cannot be separated.

It is unnecessary to say that our visitors will receive a cordial welcome in Atlanta and in Georgia where the Baptists are so numerous, and where their example and their work have done so much for progress in material, intellectual and spiral lines of endeavor. We are prepared to rejoice with them when they congratulate each other upon their marvelous growth and the blessings they have enjoyed and scattered broadcast over the

These Baptist visitors, divines and laymen, with their families, will find themselves at home. Our people are glad to have them with us, and when we say that the freedom of the city is extended, and every latchstring hangs out, the phrases alip from our pen in no perfunctory waythey come from the heart, and every day that rolls over the convention will give them fitting emphasis.

An Undemocratic Proceeding.

We regret to see a disposition manifest second and eleventh congressional districts to refuse to allow democratic alliancemen, who are favorable to the demands of the Ocala platform, to ticipate in the democratic primaries

Happily, this disposition is not general g the democrats of these two districts, and as for the rest of the state, it certainly has not the encouragement of

This very question was brought up at the meeting of the state executive comtee, which unanimously agreed that ald be both unjust and unwise to blish any test of democracy further than that of allegiance to the declaration of the regular democratic organization.

All good democrats are now, or should be, engaged in warning the farmers nst the folly of deserting the party. ivery democratic paper in the state has, ne and again, placed before the alliance the reasons why alliancemen should con-tinue to work in the democratic organization instead of affiliating with a new mongrel party which seeks to divide our peole. But of what avail are such arguments if they are to be met and overcome by a spirit of intolerance?

We do not hesitate to say that the ion of the democrats of Coffee county, as set forth by our correspondent yester-day, establishes a dangerous precedent or that district, and that it should receive the prompt rebuke of the state executive committee. The democratic farmers of loffee county, or any other county, have st as much right to favor Ocala nds, as others have to oppose them, ovided they do so through the regular nnels of democratic organization and agree to submit their opinions to the tion of democratic primaries. indeed, they deserve credit for standing with the party in their endeavor to accom-lish their purpose instead of going out-dde as others have done.

In Coffee county the functions of the te democratic committee were usurped by the managers of the democratic meeting announcing that none but "straightut" democrats would be permitted to rticipate. By "straightout" democrats it was meant that no believer in the Ocala form would be permitted to vote, and the farmers left the meeting in large ng to participate as democrats.

Just such a policy as this will split the democratic party in Georgia wide open, and if every man who looks with favor upon the principles of the Ocala platform is to be dropped from democratic ranks, it would soon be found that the division ld be a disastrous one to the party. very man at the Coffee county meeting ad a perfect right to believe in the Ocala latform if he wanted to, just as he has s right to believe in, or to oppose the free coinage of silver without having his "straightness" as a democrat questioned, and the only assurance that could be lemanded of them by authority of the are democratic committee was that they are ready to pledge themselves to the atom of the district, state and national aboutions. In establishing any other at the party managers in Coffee county or upon themselves a larger measure of upon themselves a larger month of the can consibility than their authority can did not favor the free and oinage of silver, to which the ad the "straightness" of his de ate in democratic primaries. And yet this would be no worse than to rule out democrats who believe in the Ocala platform, but are willing, first and foremost, to abide the action of district, state and national conventions.

Such a policy is fraught with nothing but danger and division. Proscription and rance are fatal to party discipline. No party can exist in which there is not e latitude of opinion. A party composed of men of the same ideas and opinions would not be large enough to elect a county surveyor in a contest where four votes would constitute a majority.

The proper way to counteract the effects of such intolerance is for the democratic state committee, or for its chairman, to announce that such a course is contrary to the distinct ruling of the state democratic committee, and in this connection it may be remembered that the chairman of the state executive committee while in the legislature voted for a general endorsment of the Ocala platform. He had a perfect right to do so without having his democracy questioned.

The democrats who would refuse alliancemen favoring the Ocala platform participation in democratic primaries are less democratic than the alliancemen, for they transcend the instructions of democratic authority and to that extent kick out of the party traces. The state executive committee has declared that whoever will pledge himself to abide the party conventions is a democrat in good fellowship and entitled to participate in primaries and primary meetings.

Let all alliancemen bear this in and stick to the old democratic ship, which is their only hope by which to accomplish the reforms for which they are contending.

Fulton's Satisfactory Compromise.

The Constitution is glad to announce that the county of Fulton will be spared the excitement of a heated campaign over the election of delegates to the state convention which meets in Atlanta on May 18th, to select delgates to Chicago.

The compromise, of which mention was made in yesterday's Constitution, has been effected between the Hill and Cleveland clubs, each side agreeing to send from Fulton county a delegation composed evenly of Hill and Cleveland men. The primary will be called off by the executive committee.

This is a very wise solution of the question for this county. By the 13th, the day fixed for Fulton, almost every county in the state would have acted, and the voice of this county could not alter the result as then fixed. There was really not enough to be gained by either side, in the struggle for the vote of one county, to undergo the turmoil and excitement incident to a heated contest.

There is no doubt that the anti-Cleveland sentiment will organize and control the state convention. Nearly three-fourths of the counties have already acted, and of the delegates so far elected about twothirds are opposed to the folly of renominating Mr. Cleveland, who was defeated last time, and whose own state has refused to endorse the sentimental antics of his friends are trying to make him the nominee this time.

The Constitution has but the kindest feeling toward Mr. Cleveland and should he be nominated, though we do not believe he possibly can be, we would support him just as earnestly as any democratic paper in the country. The democracy of Georgia, however, like that of South Carolina, North Caro lina and Virignia, has put itself on record, in the election of delegates, as being against the unwisdom and foolhardiness involved in his nomination. The state convention, in which the Cleveland idea will be represented in about the proportion of three to five will take this view of the matter, and it cannot reasonably be expected to take any other. However this may be, The Constitution is for the success of the democratic party above all things, and whatever is deemed best for the party's good will receive our encouragement and support. For this reason we approve the compromise in Fulton county, where the most bitter contest would have resulted had no such commendable solution interposed.

Our Charleston correspondent sends us word that The Charleston News and Courier is taking its medicine like a little man. Information of this kind is worth chronicling, and for that reason we spread it forth yesterday on the first page of The Constitution, where all could read it and smile or sympathize as the humor seized them.

For our own part, we neither smiled broadly nor sympathized largely, but it was with a feeling of gentle joy that we welcomed the news from South Carolina that the Cleveland boom had been flatten ed out. Such incidents, as Editor Watterson himself will tell you, are notable contributions to the safety of the party. The fact that The News and Courier was flattened out at the same time is merely one of the side issues. Yet we are disposed to dwell on the matter a moment. For months, The News and Courier has been nibbling at The Coastitution, dabbing at it in paragraphs and criticising it in leading editorials. It informed its readers that The Constitu tion did not represent the people, and it pushed its predictions and contradictions to ridiculous lengths. Its editor declared in the pages of a magazine that the southern representatives in congress misrepresented their constituents when they voted for the free coinage of silver, and he even went so far as to say that South Carolina and the south were for Cleve-

At this writing, the willipus-wallipus has rolled over him, and he has discovered that his paper is practically without a following in South Carolina. Tillman, whom he has bitterly opposed, has swept the state, and Cleveland, for whom he has done his best, has carried only two counties. We believe that no newspaper claiming to represent the political party of a state, ever sustained such a crushing The editor can now devote him

Judge Hillyer's Vie

We present in another column an view concerning the water question with Hon. George Hillyer, chairman of Atlanta's water commission. Judge Hillyer takes a practical view of the situation, and his opinion is, of course, entitled great weight He has given the question of Atlanta's water supply probably closer study than anybody in the city, and has contributed very largely to the extension of the system to the splendid dimen-sions of which it will boast after the completion of the work now under way. Judge Hillyer thinks that the meter should not be abolished, but he is in favor of increasing the meter limit so that the maximum allowed will be more than five thousand gallons, to which it is now limit ed, at a cost of 85 cents month. Of course the increase of maximum limit will have practically the same effect as the abolishment of the meters, in that the main object sought by the latter proposition is the cheapening of the cost of water and a more liberal supply to consumers. This has been the object that Councilman Northen and others, who have discussed the question, had in view, and they will be entirely satisfied if the cost of water is cheapened by consumers being provided more liberally. Judge Hillyer's views will be read with interest, and his suggestions concerning the extension of water and sewer piper are particularly good, and should receive the attention of the council, as, indeed should any proposition coming from such good authority on Atlanta's water supply as Judge Hillyer is known to be.

EDITORIAL COMMENT Editor Watterson in a recent talk with Mis-Kate Field said: "Great men are no longer in public life. It's the little great men who come to Washington, cash in hand. Great men can't afford to come. They are engaged in construction; they are building railroads, developing the country, and sending men to Washington."

The noted free-thinking sisters, Victoria ( Woodhull Martin and Tennessee C. Cook, have cultivated a very pronounced English accent during their residence abroad. Despite their matrimonially acquired wealth they dress very plainly. They wear no jewelry, and a Pittsburg reporter, who interviewed them, says that their entire personal wardrobe could not have cost more than fifty dollars. Doubtment, for he describes the sisters as dressed n black broadcloth and wearing black velve nats and military capes.

GEORGIA POLITICAL NOTES.

An incident happened at Jefferson Tuesday that shows how interesting politics are now becoming. When the old veteran graybeards turn out to political meetings, it is good evidence of lively politics.

Mr. Alsa Moore was making a speech to the crowd. Among other things he said: "Perhaps I am the oldest democrat in the house." "How old are you?" asked an old man just front of him.

"Eighty years old," was the reply.
"I can beat that by seven years," said the old gentleman in front.

He was Mr. Harrington, aged eighty-seven years; was the oldest democrat present and was proud of the fact.

Mr. S. A. Walker, of McDuffle county, the home of Tom Watson, had an appointment to speak at the courthouse in Cartersville Monday, which was advertised through. The Southern Alliance Farmer and The People's Party Paper. Of Mr. Walker's visit there The Courant-American says:

ETCHED AND SKETCHED.

Many Atlantians remember a pleasant English gentleman, William Grey, who visited here about three years ago. He was introduced as an earl-elect and met the best so ciety of Atlanta and other American cities nore than two years he was lost to the view of his American acquaintances. Word comes now, though, that he has succeeded to the earldom and the circumstances surrounding the case are more than usually interesting.

The case, terminated by the decision, is one of the most remarkable in the history of the of the most remarkable in the history of the peerage. Harry Grey, the eighth earl of Stamford and the predecessor of the present earl, was one of the most erratic peers in the United Kingdom. At the age of twenty-two he married Miss Susan Greydon, and upon fier death he married Miss Susan McNamare, who died in 1874. Despite his marriages the earl led an erratic life. After the death of his second wife, he went to South Aftica and his second wife he went to South Africa and his second wife he went to South Africa and became intimate with a Martha Solomon, a negress. She bore him two sons. One daughter, Maria, was born to the couple after marriage. The carl dead to the couple after marriage. No such action was taken by the committee, or even discussed. The action taken was simply requesting in the interest of harmony and non-partisanship, that resolutions, passed in open alliance, endorsing any party being contrary to alliance principles, be reschided. Nothing more—nothing less. We have no authority to revoke charters, and never dreamed of doing or saying any such thing. I ask you to publish this in justice to our committee, and to correct a wrong impression that has gone forth. I expect some of the other members of the committee would have corrected it ere this, or should have written sooner. Respectfully yours, the conclusion is forced on us that the brutal instincts of the Africans are manifesting themselves more and more in the race in this country. THE GRAND STAND FELL. Accident at a Political Meeting Out in Texas.

Cleburne, Tex., May 5.-There was an immense crowd yesterday to hear the joint debate between Governor Hogg and Judge George Clark, gubernatorial candidates. The debate was suspended for awhile, but later on the programme was carried out.

SAM SMALL JOINS THE ALLIANCE,

And It Seems to Be a Foregone Con clusion That He Will Run for Congress.

Sam Small has done many things in his lifetime and when he drove out to Easton Alliance yesterday and rode the alliance billy goat with the ease of a professional jocky, who was surprised?
The distinguished looking evangelist with his trim side whiskers neatly groo his shiny Chicago tile glistening with new-ness and brightness, only equaled by his glossy patent leathers, and his stylish, new spring suit looked as slick and as happy as a congressman at a horse race.

No fears of being unhorsed by the tra ditional billy goat, which all new mem bers have to ride, haunted the mind of the aspiring allianceman, who was about to join the ranks of the agriculturists.

The mysteries of the alliance were soon made known to the distinguished candidate for initiation. The first degree, the sec-ond degree and the high degree were soon bestowed upon Mr. Small and he was given he secret pass words, grips and signs the order.

How he took it and how the alliance

How he took it and how the alliancemen enjoyed it, the world of non-alliancemen will never know. The curtain which shuts out all inside doings of the alliance from the gaze of the common herd was drawn over the scene, which of all spectacles for which the alliance has ever been responsible would have been most imposing and interesting.

By joining the alliance Mr. Small has but confirmed the belief which prevails generally that he will enter the race for congress.

Everybody believes now that a few days or weeks will see him squarely in the field. He will get the strong endorsement of the alliance. They are glad to have him. His gift of ready and effective speech and his coolness and nerve make him a valuable acquisition to the weak ranks of the par-

The order appointing Mr. Peeples auditor was read and then came a long discussion as to how the costs in the case could sion as to how the costs in the case could be lessened. Another discussion came up over the question how Auditor Peeples could hold court without conflicting with the regular courts. It was finally decided that the auditor's court should adjourn to meet next Monday and continue in session every day from 10 to 1 o'clock forenoon and 3 to 6 o'clock afternoon 6 o'clock afternoon

Another question was, would the case continue in the absence of any one of the lawyers? THE CITY OF ATLANTA.

Painting of the Gallant Man-of-War Pre sented to the City.

Mayor Hemphill yesterday received a painting of the man-of-war named for Atlanta. It was a gift to the city from the officers of the gallant man-of-war, and it will be hung in the mayor's office.

The work is beautifully executed, and was done by a talented artist. On the frame is a brass plate with this inscription: "Presented by the Officers of the United States Ship Atlanta to the City of Atlanta."

The picture is handsomely framed and is a beauty.

Each Member Bound by Oath to Commit Hari Kari

Chicago, May 5.—Another man, who is said to be a member of a suicide club, which is declared to exist in this city, shot himself in Donglas park last night, dying instantly. He is Joseph Kraker, a brewer employe. Andrew Rudman is authority for the assertion that Kraker belonged to an organization, each member of which is bound by oath to commit hari kari. Rudman is under arrest. Before being taken into custody Rudman, who, like Kraker, worked in a brewery, had written a letter announcing a purpose of perpetrating self-murder. Then Rudman broke into a roommate's trunk, abstracted $30, bought a revolver, attempted to kill Miss Eva Diessler, to whom he has been engaged, and fired a shot at one Meister, who, as foreman, recently discharged Rudman. The latter fired into a group of citizens and attempted to put a bullet into a policeman, who arrested him. Rudman's unsteady aim was due to the fact that he had been drinking heavily. He will have to postpone further tragic moves pending his appearance in court, to which he was remanded this afternoon.

LaGrange, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—The annual election for mayor and council was held at this place yesterday and resulted in the election of J. F. Park, mayor, and M. L. Fleming, H. A. Mason, W. J. POLK WON'T TELL

And He Can Shake Hands With the What Were the Real Causes Which Led Will Go from Fulton to the State Conto the Birmingham Meeting.

"IT WAS IN THE INTEREST OF NO PARTY,"

Are the Words of the Alliance President "But If It Did the Third Party Any Good I Am Glad," He Adds.

One of the mysterious and unexplained roblems of modern politics is the recent Sirmingham convention. What was the necessity for it? What The address, which was given out to The Associated Press, under the signature of the alliance leaders, was nothing more than repetition of some very common truths, known to all alliancen But the convention had to send out some thing as an excuse for the meeting.

As a result, the people who were non-pulsed when the call for the meeting was issued were absolutely at sea as to the real purpose of the gathering, after reading the address issued. The alliance leaders refuse to throw any light upon the purpose of the meeting.

There was a company of them here yesterday—leaders, in fact, and, as such, recognized—and every time they open their mouths they cover the meeting deeper President Polk, and Macune and A. A. Wardell, the South Dakota man; R. J. Sledge, I. J. Stephens, and others who atended the meeting, were here yesterday.

In talking about the convention and the cause for it, they are all very wary.

President Polk seems highly pleased with the result of the meeting. He was found puffing away at a cigar and reading the newspaper accounts of the meeting ham. He was in cheerful spirits, and now and then glanced up to speak to some gentleman wearing the badge of the south-

"Yes," said he, "we've got the politicians guessing, sure. But the alliance stands it. Why, when the call for the meeting was issued, the politicians did not understand it. They don't understand

"What was the cause of the meeting?" Mr. Polk was asked.

"That is set forth in the address issued. That covers it all." "Why, the address is a sort of chestnut that the people all have heard before. It's old alliance doctrine."

"I thought so —." Colonel Polk began in a tone which indicated that the alliance president had forgotten it; but he checked himself.

himself.

"I'll tell you one thing," he went on, "the meeting was not held in the interest of either the democratic, republican or third parties. Put that down. If you interview me, put down what I say, and I want that down.

"Young fellow, if you don't put down what I say, you'll hear from me; I'll write a card. I'll exercise the right of a freeman."

"Colonel Polk, was the attitude of the alliance toward the third party responsible for the Birmingham meeting?"

"The Birmingham meeting was a perfectly legitimate alliance meeting. What was the real cause of the meeting is nobody's business, and I don't propose to give it up to the partisan press."

"But the prepale are interested calcant."

"But the people are interested, colonel—they are wondering."
"I'm not responsible for that. We are not running the alliance in the interest of the third party, or any other party."
"Have suballiances any right to endorse the people's party?" Colonel Polk was asked.
"I won't answer that question: that may asked.

"I won't answer that question; that may come before me for official decision. I won't say a word about that, about Livingston, or any local matters whatever."
Colonel Polk says he knows very little about the growth of the third party in the south.

South.

Another interesting third-party allianceman, who came over to Atlanta from the Birmingham convention, was Alonza A. Wardell, of South Dakota. Wardell, of South Dakota.

Wardell is famous in alliance councils, and is a member of the executive committee of the national alliance. Although the Birmingham meeting was called for only the southern alliance, Wardell was on hand. He boasts of having been a third-party man for forty years. He, too, seems well pleased with what was done, and he spent yesterday at alliance head-quarters with the third-party men. Last night he left the city with Colonel Post, but will be back this afternoon. He explains his presence at the Birmingham meeting, by saying that he is looking after the insurance branch of the alliance order. He will be here until Saturday.

insurance branch of the alliance order. He will be here until Saturday.

Mr. I. J. Stephens, one of the Georgia allaincemen at the meeting, would talk very little of it.

"I can't divulge what transpired behind closed doors," says he. But as he spoke he smiled in a pleased way. He and Mr. I'elix Corput were the only Georgians at the meeting.

They Gather and Talk.

The office of the alliance paper was alive with prominent third-party men all day yesterday. All of them were smiling. Sam Small was among them, and the third-party men seemed to enjoy the coming over of the evangelist to their ranks.

Mr. W. R. Gorman, of Talbot, was present, and gave tidings of the political status of the fourth district.

All the third-party men seem delighted with the Birmingham meeting.

From the happy way in which they regard it, it can mean but one thing—people's party under the guise of cautious alliance advice.

Yesterday 12,000 of the finest clgars ever shipped to the city came from Cuba to the Capital City Club through the custom house. A large audience greeted the Rev. B. H. He lectured on "Personal Liberty" and kept his audience charmed from start to finish.

The musical season will be brilliantly closed by the Von der Hoyas in two chamber concerts next week, in DeGive's opera house. The first concert will take place next Monday night and the second Friday night. The programme Monday night will be devoted to classic music, and the programme Friday night will be made up of selections from the romantic school. A remarkable interest is manifested in these concerts by the professional and amateur musicians of Atlanta who will be present in full force. Mr. Harold Simpson and Mr. Natorp Blumenfeld, two excellent violinists themselves heard Amadeo Von der Hoya play several heavy compositions recently and they were enthusiastic. They regard him as superior to any violinist who has visited Atlanta this season. All others who have heard him place him as an artist above Musin. His playing next Monday night will be a revelation to the large audience.

The children of the Hebrew Orphans' home will present an operatta called "The Coronation," at the Edgewood Avenue opera house next Thursday evening.

MIXED DELEGATION

COMPROMISE HAS BEEN REACHED.

And It Will Be Half Hill and Half Cleveland-The Hatchet Buried and the People United.

The Hill Club and the Cleveland Club of Fulton county have buried the hatchet and declared a truce, and have agreed upon a compromise delegation from Fulton county to the state convention which meets in Atlanta on May 18th.

The news that such a movement was on foot was given in yesterday's Constitution. and was very favorably commented upon on all sides. Indeed, nearly everybody approved of it, all favoring the peaceful solu-tion of what promised to be a stormy fight. Everybody seemed to consider that the spirit of harmony was the thing now most needed, and both sides manifested a per-fect willingness to declare Fulton's fight The story of how the movement began, with the joint letter of Dr. R. D. Spalding, representing the Hill sentiment, and Mr. T. B. Neal, representing the Cleveland side to President Ellis, of the Cleveland Club, and President Glenn, of the Hill Club, was told in vesterday's Constitution in which the statement was also made that the presidents of each of these two clubs would call their respective executive committees together at once. The executive committee of the Hill Club met in the morning, and after considering the matter in all its phases, agreed to the proposition to send a compromise delegaion from this county. A five was appointed, consisting of Hon. John T. Glenn, Mr. Fulton Colville, Mr. John Colvin, Mr. Frank Potts and Colonel C. S. Northen, authorized to confer with a similar committee from the Cleveland side in the selection of a joint delegation.

The Cleveland committee met in the af-ternoon in Captain Ellis's office, and after discussing the matter likewise, agreed that that they would not insist on a contest in Fulton county, and passed resolutions approving the suggestion of a compromise delegation from this county. A committee to consult with the Hill committee was appointed, consisting of Captain W. D. Ellis, Mr. Hoke Smith, Judge George Hillyer, Mr. T. B. Neal and Mr. G. R. De-

These two committees will meet at 12 clock today at the office of Judge George Hillyer on Alabama street, and will name an evenly divided delegation to represent oth sides in the state convention. A Call to the Committees.

THE ALDERMEN KILLED IT. Billie Hill's Resolution to Straighten Cain

Billie Hill's Resolution to Straighten Cain Street Goes Dead.

The aldermanic board met yesterday afternoon and concurred in a number of resolutions passed by the council.

The board put an end to but one resolution, and it was that resolution of Billie Hill's to establish the true line of Cain street.

The city engineer reported that to do this would involve the expenditure of a great deal of money, as the Gray street church and a number of residences would have to be moved. The aldermen did not want to spend any more money and the resolution went dead.

A number of other resolutions were concurred in.

The southern Baptist convention is one of the largest representative bodies in the world. By the estimate of the secretaries there will be 1,057 delegates on the floor, representing a constituency of a million and a quarter of communicants in sixteer outhern states. Through its home and foreign boards the convention keeps in the fields of the world nearly six hundred mis-ionaries.

The delegates form but a small part of the great crowd of Baptists who come to gether on such occasions. At least as many more, and probably twice as many more, are visitors, the sisters, cousins and the aunts of the delegates, who come to enjoy the social reunion which is an unofficial but important feature of the Baptist conventions. Mr. John M. Green, of the committee at headquarters, said last night as he wiped the perspiration off his brow, "At least three today and have been put in comfortable quarters. The visitors are more numerous than the delegates. Regular delegates were promptly assigned to homes and visitors were directed to places where they could get comfortable quarters at reasonable rates. No one will be permitted to sit in the convention on this basis unless his election has been certified to the secretaries before he takes his seat. The total number of associations is 648, and of these only 392 have elected representatives. Of those elected it is not likely that more than half will come. This half will be 196. That number added to Sci entitled to come on the money basis, will make the total number of delegates 1,057. That is a full estimate. Brethren who make it 1,500 are misinformed."

In addition to the above, Dr. H. C. Mobie comes as the fraternal delegate from the missionary union.

The Woman's Missionary Union, auxiliary to the southern Baptist convention, is represented by about seventy delegates from fourteen states. Miss. M. E. McIntosh is president: Miss Annic Armstrong, secretary, and Miss Mary E. Wright, of Augusta, vice president of Georgia.

This is the centennial for modern missions and in addition to its usual annual receipts of about four hundred thousand dollars the convention has undertaken to raise a centennial fund of $20,000 for chapels and mission extension.

The Convention and Its Work.

The general public will be interested to know what brings this tremendous assembly together every year. Religion, of course, but in what way does it work?

The southern Baptist convention, though it disburses every year nearly half a million dollars and keeps an army of missionaries in the field, has not the power to discipline a single church or church member in the demonination. It has no power to demand of them a single thing. It is, with all its vast work, nothing but an organization for the co-operation of the churches, each of which is sovereign and independent.

The great object of this co-operation is mission work—the evangelization of the world—and to this end educational institutions are powerful auxiliary.

Another auxiliary lately established is that of publications through the Sunday school board.

History and Work of the Convention.

The southern Baptist convention was organized at Augusta, Ga., in 1845. Previous to that all the Baptists of the United Sates had been united in two mission organizations, one for foreign and one for home missions. The one in charge or foreign missions were called the "Triennial convention," and the other which prosecuted domestic work, was, known as the "Home Mission Society."

Differences arising out of the abolition movement caused the separation of the northern and southern halves of these great conventions. The executive board of the Triential conventions refused to employ missionaries who were slave holders, and the convention itself sustained the action of the board. Upon this the southern Baptist convention was organized and the two great branches of its work were committed to the "foreign mission board" and the "home mission board" The foreign mission board at Marion, Ala. About ten years ago the latter moved to Atlanta and here it is likely to remain.

The Foreign Mesion Board at Marion, Ala. About ten years ago the latter moved to Atlanta and here it is likely to remain.

The work of the foreign missions board is almost worldwide. It has missions board is almost worldwide. It has missions in China, Japan, Italy, Africe, Brazil and Mexico. It has in the field about a hundred missionaries sent from the United States and in addition about another hundred of native helpers. As powerful auxiliaries to the work mission schools are established in these fields. Among the most distinguished missionaries are the late Dr. Yates, of Shanghai, who went from North Carolina; Dr. Graves, of Canton, who went from Baltimore; Dr. George B. Taylor, of Rome, who is conducting an important work in the shadows of the vatican, and Dr. W. D. Powell, of Mexico, who went from Texas, but was originally from Murfreesboro, Tenn., where Rev. Dr. Eaton found him on a load of wood one day, and took him years this hostility was manifested by storing his house, breaking window glass and annoyances of that kind. In the last year or two this has ceased. Dr. Powell is now assisted by about thirty missionaries, half from the United States and half natives.

A large female school of high grade has been established at Saltillo and of the young ladies graduated there, a large number became teachers in the schools of the city.

The Home Mission Beard's West. The Home Mission Board's Work.

The Home Mission Board's Work.

The home mission board has been employed mainly in works in our own country, Cuba being an important exception. The domestic mission work is among the native white people, among the foreign population, among the Mexicans in the United States, among the Indians and among the negroes. The board has had schools among the Indians. Recently the Creek nation took charge of all the schools within its territory. By the sale of their interest in Oklahoma, the Creeks got $2,000,000, and half of it was retained in trust for them as a school fund, which added to their former school funds gave them a larger one per capita than any people on earth. The home mission board has been working in the Indian territory for forty years and there are now 117 Baptist churches in that territory. There are as many Baptists in proportion to population as there are in Georgia. The work of the home board has been a great civilizing influence among the Indians.

The Work in Cuba.

The Work in Cuba.

The home mission board's work in Cuba has attracted a great deal of attention because of the opposition it encountered. Dr. A. J. Diaz having been imprisoned several days on a slight pretext because of his aggressiveness at Guanabacoa. Dr. Diaz is a graduate of the Medical Institute of Havana and a man of liberal education. He was in the revolutionar movement in the seventies and had to fly for his life. With two companions he was surrounded by Spanish cavalry in a stretch of woods near the sea. Capture meant death to the insurgents, and the three waited till nightfall and made their wayq to the beach. Upon a piece of timber they drifted out to sea, hoping to catch a counter current and return to a less dangerous part of the island.

paratory to becoming an oculist. Through the efforts of a young lady, Miss Alice Tupper, he was converted and became a missionary to his own country. Through his efforts six churches have been organized and now have a membership of two thousand to twenty-five hundred. Dr. Diaz preaches in the opera house at Havana and sometimes has congregations of 1,500. The building was bought by the home mission board for $$60,000 and this investment has done much to convince the Cubans of the permanence of the work and the strength of the people behind it.

The Sunday School Board.

The Sunday School Board.

A new feature of the work of the southern Baptist convention is the Sunday school board, organized last year at Birmingham. Rev. Mr. Frost, D.D., formerly of Richmond, now of Nashville, is the secretary and is actively in charge of the work. This action was the end of a long controversy over the Sunday school publications. Some had desired the southern churches to patronize the American Baptist Publication Society of Philadelphia; but the convention thought fit to establish a Sunday school board to look after this work and publish the lesson books and periodicals. Every church, however, is sovereign, and may use what publications it likes best. The Sunday School Board.

Resolutions Complimentary to the Georgis Pacific and Connecting Lines.

The Fort Worth, Texas and Atlanta, Ga., Baptist special, via Memphis and Birmingham, reached here yesterday at 1:35 o'clock p. m. The train was composed of four sleepers and one chair car and had about one hundred and twenty-five delegates and visitors from the west. The run made on the Georgia Pacific division, between Birmingham and Atlanta, was the fastest time ever made, being something over four hours. The delegates and visitors expressed themselves as much pleased with the excellent schedules and through car service, and before reaching Atlanta passed the following resolution:

"On the Special, May 5, 1892.—

"Whereas, We, the delegates to the southern Baptist convention, traveling over the Texas and Pacific, Iran Mountain, Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham and Richmond and Danville railways, have had an excellent through-car service, superior accommodations and a most satisfactory and happy trip; be it therefore

"Resolved, 1. That we tender our hearty thanks to the companies operating these lines.

"2. That we recommend this route to all persons who desire to travel over good roads in elegant cars, attended by courteous officials, and on safe and quick time.

"3. That special thanks are due and hereby tendered to C. P. Fegan, H. M. Fickinger and A. S. Thweatt, traveling passenger agents of these several roads, for special favors to us.

"4. That we further and specially thank Rev. S. L. Morris, having charge of our excursion from Texas, for his prudent and thoughtful management and considerate attention."

The price paid Mrs. Wylle was nearly eleven hundred dollars, the $200 was simply a balance due her as a final payment and settlement. Slowly yesterday afternoon she was wasting away from the dread disease, and in her semi-conscious condition, asked to see her sister Minnie again. She was brought to her bedside about 3 o'clock, and the scene was a very affecting one.

The sister left the dying girl and went to the rear room. A half hour later she was looked for, but could not be found. She had become anxious for her liberty again, and, seeing all other avenues of escape closed, had desperately opened a window in the back of the house and crawled through it.

Dropping to the ground, Minnie took to her heels.

Every house round about was searched, but the girl was gone. A watch was kept last night, in the hopes that she would return home, but she never again showed up, and has looked upon the face of her little sister for the last time.

Midnight found the absent member of the family still away. Her sister was barely alive, and her death had already become a matter of time. She was slowly passing away, and daylight will undoubtedly find her free from all earthly influences.

Bending over her for three days, her mother has kept an untiring watch, fearful to sleep lest she should awake and find her free from all earthly influences.

POLITICS WARMING UP IN THE SIXTH

Only One Candidate for the Legislature Yet Announced—The Daily News Budget from Macon.

Macon, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—It is whispered around today among the politicians that Colonel Dan G. Hughes will probably be the next candidate to gird upat his loins and enter the congressional from the sixth. The colonel it is also will come out under alliance colors, but not in any way interfering with the candidacy of the third party man should one be found ready to make a target of himself. Colonel Dan Hughes will stand firm as a rock for pure democracy, but he will be the sturdy representative of the agricultural part of community in Bibb county.

Where is Lieutenant Brewster of the Smithsonian Institute?
That is a question which a number of people are asking who have paid him $15 each.
And who have become suspicious of the safety of their meney.
Several days ago Brewster came to Atlanta. He registered at the Markham house and limediately began to advertize through an intelligence bureau the object of his visit here. Through Messra. Jackson & Derry, who were at the head of the concern, he stated that he was a representative of the Smithsonian Institute and through its auspices was about to make a geological survey in Texas.
The lieutenant was desirous of having a number of people accompany him to the Lone Star State on his important mission. He was not long in obtaining volunteers. One party after another applied at the intelligence bureau, paid their fee of $1 each and then sought out Lieutenant Brewster. To each one he unfolded a tale of wonderful interest and easily aroused a desire to join the party that was to make the survey.

A guarantee was required, however, as an assurance of good faith. The amount was placed at $15 and it was to be refunded on reaching Texas and beginning the work that had been mapped out.

Quite a number of those who had become enthused at the prospects of the coming trippid over their money. They are now regretting it. Wednesday Messrs, Jackson & Derry suspected that the scheme was not a perfectly square one and immediately returned to the people who had registered with them their fee of $1.

The matter was reported to the detectives, who were asked to investigate it. They immediately went to the Markham house, but found Lieutenant Brewster gone. No one knew where he was and every effort was made to locate him in Atlanta, but it has thus far proved fruitless.

Unless the missing leutenant turns up, the Smithsonian Institute will very probably be communicated with. Very little is known of the man who purported to have been sent out by that institution and there are grave fears on the part of those who paid up their guarantee In the same connection it is interesting o note that W. A. Huff is significantly silent when asked to say whether he will be a candidate for a seat in the capitol. He contents himself with a wink of the other eye and the intimation that he may yet give the boys some fun. One thing is very certain, if Huff starts out to be a congress-man he's going to put lots of life into the Joseph Goldstein came before the court some time ago and got a first decree against his wife Henrietta, alias Lilly Goldstein.

Among the sundry and many other causes set forth why Joseph and Lilly should no longer under the eye of the law be considered one is that Henrietta, alias Lilly, is now an inmate of the penitentiary in New York state. She decerted Joseph and went to the great metropolis, where after a brief and brilliant career as a member of the demi monde, she was caught stealing in a store and was convicted. A total divorce was granted.

THE NEW YORK MARKET. on the Floor of the New York Stock

New York, May 5.—The stock market opened with a slightly advancing tendency and rather more animation than on any previous day this week. The most important movement was in Sugar, and in that there was positive weakness with a substantial loss, Reading, Lackawanna, Missouri Pacific and Tennessee Coal were special weak spots in the railroad list. The upward movement in the forenoon lasted only during the first hour, after which there was a slow but steady depreciation in values, and the early gains were nearly wheel out, while most stocks were carried below the level of last night's figures, and remained there throughout the session. Only a marked exception was Omaha preferred, which falled to yield at all, and is the only stock showing an important advance. The close was quiet, but generally weak at about the lowest prices of the day. Final changes are generally slight losses, but while Omaha preferred is up 11-2 per cent. kept fairly steady on small insolutions and an exceedingly limited business till nearly 20 clock, when ene of our commission houses appeared in the market and sold a line of cotton. The fact that this heavy offering was so readily absorbed immediately struck our local traders as an evidence of some factor likely to transpire, and they then started to cover and the market was quickly run up to about morning prices. Shortly thereafter cables began to arrive speaking of a probable and sarly resumption of work in Lamesbire, our own friends wiring a that it is likely that work will be resumed on Monday. After the few points improvement, however, there was again a large line of long cotton offered, and this held prices in check so that we only closed about 30 points better than last swening. Receipts at the porte this week, owing to the corrections on Saturday last, which was the last of the month, are somewhat heavier than the last. We see no reason, now that affairs are again likely to assume a normal aspect, why the market should not remain stable, though we shall be governed entirely by the various reports which may come in as to the acreage and the progress of the crop.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 5—The bears in wheat and corn were more severely tossed on the horns of the board of trade bulls today than at any time for some time past, and it was on account of the weather; not that it was any worse than it had been, but because of its continued and wide-spread effect. In fact, with the great delay in seeding which has already taken place, and with the renewed down-pour alternating with unseasonably low temperature, further delaying farm work and threatening to rot the seed already in the ground, dealers on the board are beginning to look on the outlook for the cereal crops of 1892 as really alarming. All private advices received today were of the most discouraging kinds. The shorts have been getting nervous for some time and speculation has been growing more friendly to the bull side, but the duliness and narrowness have been against any material advance, and it has not been easy to start a boom. But this morning the friends of wheat showed more courage and the shorts displayed more alarm; and, while trade was far from active a stronger feeling ruled. Good and the shorts displayed more alarm; and, while trade was far from active, a stronger feeling ruled. Good buying orders came in from the northwest, and New buying orders came in from the northwest, and New Yorkers finally came into line, while the local shorts made a wild rush to cover. To add to the alarm of shorts in wheat, there were unfavorable weather reports from abroad, and cables were strong and higher. Corn is doubly affected by the weather conditions. Middly roads prevent the farmers from delivering their undeniably large surplus, and the soaking it is geiting in unprotected cribs must inevitably lower still further the already too low grading reducing by so much the amount of the contract article. At the same time ther the already too low grading reducing by so much the amount of the contract article. At the same time the sodden ground cannot be plowed, and the planting of the new crop is still further delayed. All of this gave the corn pit today a sort of Saint Vitus dance appearance. That cereal was the first to feel the effect of the weather conditions, and the opening was excited and higher. The wheat crowd, while somewhat interested in the higher opening of their grain, took things rather easy until the corn flurry had about exhausted itself in athe early dealings and stopped for a rest. Then the wheat market began to warm up, and when it got fairly to going it led the shorts a merfor a rest. Then the wheat market began to warm up, and when it got fairly to going it led the shorts a merry dance. It did not weary until it had added 3c to yesterday's closing price. Pardridge first arrayed his chief forces in the corn pit, where he disposed them for the protection of a line of ahort corn variously estimated at from two to four million bushels. Later he needed them in the wheat pit, where his interest is believed to be much heavier. Item after item of news kept dropping in during the first hour, and no matter from which direction it came its tenor was bullish; but Pardridge sold wheat, Cottrill sold wheat and the crowd which runs in the wake of successful men though they were safe in getting in behind the big but Pardridge sold wheat, Cottrill sold wheat and the crowd which runs in the wake of successful men though they were safe in getting in behind the big bears.

July opened 1 1-2c higher at 81 3-4c and for an hour or more it appeared more likely to go lower than higher. It did, in fact, sell off to 81 1-2c, when resistance to the effect of the numerous buil dispatches by the local crowd was finally met by a flood of buying orders from the seaboard and northwest. The price, which had been quietly edging up to around opening figures, suddenly touched 82c and then the rejoicing shouts of traders who were long seemed to intimidate short sellers and until the price had excitedly climbed to 83 5-8c the latter contingent was not again heard of except as the most eager buyers in the crowd. At 83 5-8c some of the triumphan longs proceeded to take their profits and their heavy sales caused a reaction to 82c, but the market would not stay down; if climbed to the high notch as above noted shortly before the close and closed firm at 84c, with the prospect sup pinous soundy soundy in proque soundy soundy in the except the close and closed firm at 84c, with the prospect any excuse for them. Pardridge sold considerable wheat, but was not as serious as usual. The corn market was wildly irregular and much higher than at the opening. It was very difficult to trade for a few minutes, so varicus and wide apart were prices bid and asked. May was particularly ragged and unsatisfactory for commission houses to fill orders, owing to the fact that the main interest was in July. Even in July the range was from 41 1-4 to 41 3-4 cents in the first five or ten seconds and in May buyers were bidding 43 3-4 cents and sellers for the most part at from 41 1-2 to 41 1-4 cents. In the confusion of the opening and for about ten minutes thereafter trading was principally at 43 3-4 cents. July sold for the most part at from 41 1-2 to 41 1-4 cents until the strength confirming the fact that Russia had removed the prohibition upon the expect of oats, i and 15-8 cents for July over yesterday's last figures.

Oats were strong in sympathy with wheat and corn and on account of the weather which red a similar effect on the minor cereal to that exercised on the others. The market closed at an advance of 11-8 cents.

The only restful spot on the floor of the exchange was the provision pit, and it was only quiet in comparison with the turmoil in the grain markets. Receipts of hogs were 27.000 head and prices were 5 cents lower. The strength of the grain markets was the deterrent force which prevented the decline and permitted an advance in hog products. Near the close pork and ribs weakened somewhat, and final figures show betterments of 12 1-2 to 10 cents in lard and 2 1-2 cents in ribs.

The leading juliures ranged as follows in Chicago coder.

favorable conditions of the weather in the west and northwest are beginning to tell in the price of grain. There are also some reports of unfavorable weather abroad, particularly in France. English markets are especially strong and higher. The demand for flour continues unusually good. All of yesterday's offerings were taken today, including some very large sales at Minneapolis. If exporters continue to buy as they have the past week it will require something more than the heavy short selling to prevent an advance.

The report issued by The Cincinnati Price Current was a little bearish in its tone, inducing some holders to sell out and some of the bears to increase their short line. There are some very unfavorable reports from Russia regarding crop conditions. As all reports from that quarter are unreliable, it requires some time to ascertain the facts. It must be quite evident, however, to everybody that the outlook for the European crops is not the most favorable, and should it become decidedly unfavorable we would have the most exciting wheat market here we have had since last August. All kinds of coarse grain continue to advance owing to light receipts and good demand. Oats were especially strong, we believe, entirely on their merits, the demand being too large at the prices which prevailed. Orders for hog products were again large today, and the market strong. Speculators, however, were more interested in grain, and pald very little attention to hog products.

Atlanta got her first shut-out yesterday. And as goose egg after goose egg was piled up, the crowd grew more and more Severe upon the Atlanta players.

The treatment the Atlanta players receive at home is decidedly worse than they

It is a roast, cooked to the turn. No other city in the Southern League, or in any other league for that matter is half so generous with a visiting team as

Neither is any city half so severe when a member of the home team makes a bad

This tells on the players and makes them nervous and jerky in their work.

Altmayer, of Macon, L vis, of Montgomery, and Kelly, of Mob e, have all expressed their surprise, and a the same time have declared their hap iness over the

"I have played ball all over the country," said Charley Levis, when he was here "but I never struck a ball town like Atlanta before. It is the most impartial place I ever saw in my life. It makes no difference which side makes a bad play the crowd is always ready to yell. In fact the place is just a little too impartial-for the home team. While the people are willing to applaud a good play by the visitors they are just as willing to hoot a bad play, error or not, by a home man. That's all wrong, it hacks the men. Nothing will demoralize a team half so quick."

Kelly and Altmayer both talked the same

And they are right. The Atlanta players think just like the visiting ball players, and are badly hacked. They go into a game nervous and broken up because they expect to be guyed. And when that guying comes as it invariably does, they go to pieces and play "It's the toughest town I ever played in," sald Dooly, yesterday. "Off the ball field we are treated the best in the world. Everything is ours from the go, but the minute we get on that ball ground the very same people give us the most terrible deals. It's awful hard to stand, I tell you. With the encouragement the visiting teams get we could play winning ball." Dooly is about right.

But to the game yesterday.

Maskrey played, and the men wore the full blue uniforms.

And yet they lost. Throughout the game the Mobile boys played faultlessly while the Atlantas after the fourth inning went to pieces and piled up error after error until eleven had been made. McIntyre made four of the eleven while Schabel got three. Campfield went into the box for Atlanta and up to the sixth pitched a magnificent game. Three hits were booked against him and one of these was a dead scratch.

against him and one of these was a dead scratch.

In the sixth after a hit had been made McIatyre and Westlake contributed an error and Campfield went heart broken. He worked hard, however, and when the inning closed Mobile had scored four runs, but by no fault of Campfield.

Only one hit had been made off of Frank and that was made by Long in the first inning. The Atlantas seemed wholly unable to hit him.

It was in the seventh inning that Atlanta piled up her errors and Mobile crowded in her hits. The errors began first, and Campfield seeing that his support was wholly bad became bad himself.

But many who saw the game did not censure him.

sure him.

He gave the Mobile hitters drop balls and slow tosses, and these the men lined out until six hits had been marked up. These hits and the errors netted seven runs for Mobile.

Campfield's work didn't please Maskrey and the pitcher was ordered to Maskrey and the pitcher was ordered to center field while Friend was sent to the box. His work was an improvement on that Campfield gave after the team weak

But in the next inning Mobile by hits and errors scored four times again.
Atlanta touched Frank for only four hits;
two of these were made by Long, one by Maskrey and one by Westlake.
The game ended with sixteen runs for Mobile and none for Atlanta.

Macon Wins a Game.

Macon, Ga., May 5.—(Special.)—The game between Macon and Montgomery today or the home grounds was the best of the season. The Macon men played ball as they never played before and Montgomery got down to work in great shape.

Some of Macon's men were playing for their lives, as releases depended to a great extent upon the result of the game. Veach, the new Macon first baseman, is showing the boys how to play baseball and has put new life into the team. A large quantity of new blood with, it is understood, be injected within the next few days, and then Macon expects to go to climbing.

Calahan pitched a good game but was hit hard at times. Gelss, kyan and Burke distinguished themselves by brilliam playing. Unassisted Gelss made a double play in the ninth inning, cutting of one run. The batting of Hill, Keenan, Finke and Calahan were other notable features. Following is the score: CHATTANOOGA

Birmingham, Ala., May 5.—(Special.)—Birmingham lost the closing game of the series with the Memphis club today by a score of 3 mingham lost the closing game of the series with the Memphis club today by a score of 3 to 2.

The visitors put Schmitt, the left-handed twirling wonder, in the box and Adams was up as back stop. The home battery was Wilder and Sweeney.

The Birmingham players didn't get on to the wild west pitcher from St. Paul until late in the game and when they did their hits amounted to nothing.

Schmitt proved even a sharper base watcher than Meaney who pitched yesterday, catching Mills too far from first.

To all appearances Schmitt did the best pitching, but the record of the game shows up different. He was miserably supported, while Wilder's support was first-class. At the end of the first half of the ninth inning the score stood 2 and 2, and when the Memphis club went to the bat two men were successively put out. Then Moss was given his base on balls, and finally a wild pitch allowed him to score, deciding the game.

In the fifth Tanner knocked a home run and several dollars were thrown him.

No Sunday Excursions.

Columbia, S. C., May 5.—(Special.)—The railroad commission today issued an order notifying all roads in the state that their construction of the law is that it is not lawful to run exeursion trains on Sundays. This will-principally affect the Southbound, the South Carolina and the Savannah and Charleston roads, which do a large summer Sunday excursion business. The decision is the result of a protest by the Charleston Ministerial union. It is rumored that the railroads will take the matter into the courts:

od Park as a Beautiful Home

This is what a well-known capitalist said resterday.

"You see," continued he, "this property is only one-quarter of a mile southwest of the city and is literally sandwiched by reservations that are filling with residences as fast as people can build them. Every locality around it is occupied by the very best class of people and then the property lies well for settlement. It combines all the features one would desire in a home site. It is belted on the east by the Metropolitan dummy sine, which affords all the connections with the city that is desired and it is almost within a stone's throw of the Confederate Soldiers' home and Grant park, both of which places have already become prominent. Every drive leading to Grant park and its avenues and streets are so arranged as to give all the lots a handome frontage and deep background.

"You see, you get about three times as much ground there as you get in some suburban plats and the price is within the rever on minos, any man of moderate income."

"Just think of it—the lots are seventy—" burban plats and the price is within the receast of aimos, any man of moderate income.

"Just think of it—the lots are seventy-live feet front by two hundred deep. This gives the home builder all the room he wants for front yard and outhouses, and he can buy these at a very low figure for one-third cash and the balance in one, two and three years. If he wants to build a home on the property the company will allow him draught his own plans, select the contractor and it will then build the house at the figures that have been agreed upon and allow the lot purchaser to pay for his home on easy installments. I consider this a rare opportunity for a man of limited means to secure a desirable home, and one that will continue to increase in value."

The capitalist is right.

Ornewood park lies between the city and the Soldiers' Home and the only reason it is not full of homes now, is because of the heretofore miserable street car facilities of Atlanta. Furthermore the adjoining property on the city side consisting of 500 acres was unpurchasable and inaccessible until Grant park was donated to the city. Then property in this direction was opened up, threaded with street car lines and avenues, and put on the market for sale. So numerous and beautiful are the homes that have been built since that period, that they speak for themselves.

Ornewood park is designed as an ideal residence center and Samuel W. Goode & Co., the veteran real estate agents, have arranged for an auction sale of lots to take place on Thursday, May 12th. The crowd attending the sale will be taken to Ormewood park free of charge and be feasted with an old-fashioned Georgia barbecue. Good music will also be one of the incidentals and a jolly good time is assured to all. The sale will occur at 10 o'clock a. m., and those who wish to purchase property that will grow in value, should be on hand by all means.

EDGEWOOD PROPERTY

At Auction, May 11th. at 3:30 P. M.
WHERE ARE THE LOTS?
They are on Mooreland avenue, fronting Senator Colquitt's lovely home, just across the avenue from Guss Scott and Thomas E.
Walker and Professor Neel's famous military academy.

WHAT MAY BUYERS EXPECT?

The property itself is choice and surrounded by many pleasant people—Senator Colquitt and family, Dr. H. C. Morrison, Mr. H. W. E. Palmer, Messrs. Snook, Walker, Scott, Mooreland, Felder and others. It is but two blocks from the Copenhill Highland avenue, the county line, which will be the main avenue for the electric line rom Inman Park to the property of the "Kirkwood Land Company." And this line will not be long in building. Copenhill and Inman Park, Edgewood Park and the Kirkwood Land Company's property are all settling up with first-class people, and much money and brains are being expended to develop them, and they virtually surround the lots to be sold Wednesday, May 11th, at 3:30 p. m.

So purchasers at this sale next Wednesday may expect to realize a certain profit if they desire to resell, or to secure sites for homes, where society is good, school advantages excellent, water and air pure, access easy and pleasant by two electric lines and by the Georgia railroad, and living economical. WHAT MAY BUYERS EXPECT?

HOW WILL PERSONS GO TO THE SALE NEXT WEDNESDAY, MAY 11th? They will get on the electric cars at corner of Broad and Marietta streets, and go via Houston street and Highland avenue to P. H. Snook's summer home at Copenhill in Edgewood, and get off there just two blocks from the property to be sold.

WHAT ARE THE TERMS OF SALE?

One third cash, remainder in one and two

One-third cash, remainder in one and two years with 8 per cent interest. WHAT CLASS OF BUYERS WILL INVEST? WHAT CLASS OF BUYERS WILL INVEST?
Mainly those who wish choice suburban homes, where they can go and come to the city quickly and pleasantly, where social life is already pleasant, and where they may send to the fine schools to be found at Edgewood and very near these lots. Of course some people will buy to speculate and make money, but this is more particularly a locality for first-class suburban homes—just as pretty and pleasant and to be as accessible, but not so expensive as those at Imman Park, Copenhill and north Atianta.

Some people dress wrong. Go where you please you'll find such. Bank presidents, editors, judges, physicians, lawyers merchants, as well as the every-day business man. No use for it. About twothirds of our store is now devoted to spring suits. It's curious to watch how quickly fashion picks out the best for service and makes it the "go." For sturd y wear and effective mixture and colors the Scotch Homespuns seem to take with the young men-good reason for it, There's style about them; there's solidity. We have light and dark shades, loud and quiet patterns, made up in keeping with their goodness,

If you want a Suit, we don't see how you can help getting the one you like here.

SALESROOMS PACKED WITH BUYERS. SALESROOMS PACKED WITH BUYERS. SALESROOMS PACKED WITH BUYERS.

Why? It's a short story. Buyers have found the place to buy proper Clothing at low prices—popular prices marked in plain figures. Make, fit, finish exactly right; none of the little things skipped that count for so much in good tailoring. Isn't it true, and does it require eyeglasses to determine why we sell at lower prices? IT'S SELLING BY THOUSANDS. IT'S SELLING BY THOUSANDS.

IT'S SELLING BY THOUSANDS. That cheapens the production. We manufacture, and everybody knows a thousand can be produced at lower prices than a hundred. Yet, some dealers buy their stock by the dozen. How can they compete, when we manufacture, and by the thousands for our Washington, Baltimore and Atlanta re-
